Follow the Red Brick Road...
To Senior Terrace

Charlotte E. Shunk

The scene has been portrayed in movies countless times; it feels as though we’ve all walked across the stage at least a dozen times along with our favorite characters. Despite the all too known circumstances, nothing can match the awe with which your own graduation day holds. Westminster college students will soon garner their chance to walk triumphantly across the stage to collect their diplomas.

Two-hundred-and-thirty-nine undergraduate and seventeen graduate students will process across Senior Terrace outside Old Main during the Commencement ceremony 1 p.m. Saturday, May 12.

Westminster commencement traditions revolve around honor and memory, including taking legacy photos with generations of families who have attended WC; photos with President Kathy Richardson and Vice President of Academic Affairs Dean Jeffrey Coker and the announcement of honors.

“The gentleman that begins your time at Westminster also ends your time at Westminster students walk through the line of faculty after they receive their diplomas,” Associate Dean of the College Jamie McMinn said. Students underwent this same experience at the conclusion of convocation during first-year orientation. It denotes both the start and conclusion of being a WC student. “We are really proud of everyone who is graduating and wish them well in their lives after Westminster,” Coker said.

Dean Coker, President Richardson, Board Chair Deborah Majuras and Senior Speakers Megan Douds and Christian Na will each speak during the commencement ceremony. Students underwent the line of faculty after they receive their diplomas,” Associate Dean of the College Jamie McMinn said. Students underwent this same experience at the conclusion of convocation during first-year orientation. It denotes both the start and conclusion of being a WC student. “We are really proud of everyone who is graduating and wish them well in their lives after Westminster,” Coker said.

Dean Coker, President Richardson, Board Chair Deborah Majuras and Senior Speakers Megan Douds and Christian Na will each speak during the commencement ceremony.

Senior speaker contenders submitted written pieces to the Senior Selection Committee, which is composed of students, faculty and Associate Dean of Student Affairs Gina Vance. The committee selected the authors of the top three written pieces to orally present their works. The final choice of speakers is based upon combined written and performed components.

“Selected speakers usually offer a look back at their Westminster experience in a way that the class will relate, as well as offering a motivational takeaway. The best speakers do this by telling a story,” Vance said. “This is the first year two students were selected to be Senior Speakers.”

“Commencement is a lot of fun. There’s a range of emotions – from happiness because students are graduating to sadness because students are graduating,” McMinn said.

Executive Secretary of Academic Affairs Gabriella Buda is responsible for organizing and executing details of commencement. "Organizing and planning [for commencement] is all set. The more visible signs of graduation occur when Physical Plant sets up chairs and tents along the terrace,” McMinn said.

Coker said, “Commencement is a wonderful time for families and an exciting time for students who are moving toward their lives after college. Families are proud that their students succeeded in college.”

The Distinguished Faculty Award will also be presented during the ceremony. The Distinguished Faculty Award has been presented each year beginning in 1999 to one member of the WC faculty for outstanding service to the school and its students. Students, faculty, staff and alumni were encouraged throughout the Spring 2018 semester to nominate a faculty member they felt “demonstrated, over a sustained period of time, distinguishing characteristics of the most outstanding faculty – intellectual vitality, effective communication skills, the ability to motivate or inspire compassion and concern for student success, collegiality and leadership,” Coker said.

The Honorary Degree will not be presented during commencement as usual. Instead, this year it was awarded during the sociology banquet. The Honorary Degree is presented to a distinguished figure outside our institution, McMinn said. The 2017-18 Honorary Degree was awarded to Harley Hothschild.

A majority of WC students choose to begin their careers, while others go to graduate school after commencement. "Graduates and their parents typically leave campus after commencement. Faculty and staff who helped organize the ceremony stay on campus to have their own post-graduation celebration," McMinn said.

“Don’t be afraid to fail once you get into the larger world. Your resume doesn’t have a list of failures – it just has a list of what works. Have tough skin. Seek to be the best people you can be,” Coker said.

‘Endings are not always bad. Most times they’re just beginnings in disguise.’ – Erin Hanson

Weekend Weather
Friday: 72°  48°
Saturday: 73° 51°
Sunday: 73° 48°
Some of the best advice I’ve gotten from a professor was to keep my focus on campus. Admittedly, it was a little tough to hear, but making your life at Westminster as fulfilled as possible is generally impossible if you haven’t made any progress toward graduation so much easier, because it feels like 18 years of your life, or the trifling efforts are still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.

Admittedly, I’ve gotten the transition part of this one. Unlike college, you may be anyway. The same professor from above is still more revealing. A gradual transition from Disney World to the real world.
25 More Things

Finding Your Passion

Deciding what you want to do for the rest of your life can be hard—and for many of us it is. Here are some tips to help you find your passion:

1. Do what you love now. Whether that means volunteering or a hobby you have, the most important thing is that you enjoy it.
2. Pursue the things you're passionate about. If you don't do what you love, you're not going to enjoy it.
3. Don't give up on your dreams. If something doesn't work out, try something else.
4. Take risks. You might not always succeed, but you'll learn a lot from trying.
5. Surround yourself with people who support you.

The Senior Sendoff

Marcus Dean

This is the last column that I will ever write as a Westminster College student. I'm not going to go too far into detail about the future, but I want to give you a glimpse of what life will be like after college.

I'm very excited about what lies ahead. I'm looking forward to the next chapter of my life, and I can't wait to see what the future holds for me.

The Senior Sendoff is a column where I reflect on my time at Westminster College and share some of my thoughts and memories. I hope you enjoy it.

About the Author

Mackenzie Marino

The Senior Sendoff is a column written by Mackenzie Marino, a senior at Westminster College. Mackenzie is passionate about writing and has published several articles in the school newspaper. She is a member of the student government and a member of the debate team. Mackenzie's favorite pastime is reading, and she loves spending time with her family and friends.

Copy edited by Taylor Hertzler
Understanding Undergraduate Research: The Westminster Way

Dominic Boston

Research can be a fulfilling task. High school, doing research can simply mean gathering up some sources from the library and combining them to form a paper. Yet, in college, research requires a scheduled timeline, critical thinking and remembering to re-create a paper worthy of any professor’s eyes. Having proper research skills will come in handy just about any job position.

You may not realize it, but learning how to research effectively can help you learn and interpret sources better, think critically about topics and improve your communication skills. Colleges across the nation recognize the importance of such skills research that can offer students the opportunity to improve on these skills. In an article titled “Undergraduate Research: Importance, Benefits, and Challenges,” published in the International Journal of Science, professor John E. Norris and John M. Goff describe how important these programs are, writing “These research courses have an appropriate place in the undergraduate curriculum of an education science-based department.” Published findings, as well as completed projects, suggest that developing and maintaining undergraduate research programs can have a positive impact on student learning and career preparation.

In an article titled “The Westminster College Summer Research Fellowship Program,” Dr. Christiana Soss, Director of the Drinko Center for Scientific Research, explains how the program is aimed to offer grants to students in need of financial assistance. “In fact, we are not just looking for students with promise, but for those who would be one of the first six ever chosen.”

The program is designed to facilitate opportunities for students to be a part of their research project for the summer months. The Summer Research Fellowship program is one of the many undergraduate research programs offered at Westminster College which are available to students in any major. The Summer Research Fellowship program involves a competitive application process and the end of the program will result in a research paper or project. These students are chosen by various professors across the college who work in all academic disciplines.

The program offers students the opportunity to conduct undergraduate research during the summer months. The Westminster College Summer Research Fellowship program offers students the chance to work in either a science, psychology, education, English, or social science discipline. Each student chosen will be paired with a mentor who will be a professor from the college.

Students are expected to work with the professor for ten weeks. The program consists of a competition for grants for students to participate in the program. Each student will need to write a proposal that includes the materials, methods, and ethical considerations needed to conduct the research.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.

The program is open to all undergraduate students who are enrolled in a degree program at Westminster College. Students are expected to work at least 15 hours per week, and they will be paid $1500 for their participation.
The Cursed Child Opens on Broadway

After the release of the final Harry Potter book, Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows in 2007, many fans of the series were eager to learn what would happen next to the wizarding world after the series came to an end. The ultimate way to experience the story was through the FIRST BROADWAY PERFORMANCE OF HARRY POTTER AND THE CURSED CHILD at the Lyric Theatre. Directed by Jack Thorne and designed by Luke Halls, the play provides a new adventure for Harry Potter fans worldwide.

The new work was a play-by-play adaptation of the original novel, Harry Potter and the Cursed Child, and premiered on July 30, 2016, in London. The play is a labor of love from the original author of the books, J.K. Rowling, and is a testament to her commitment to bringing the world of Harry Potter to life in the most creative and inspiring way possible.

What’s Missing from the Production?

Though students’ hard work continues, the season is winding down. Soon, students will be collecting their books for this past year’s academic year as it is coming to an end. Students will no longer have those books. Instead, they will be moving on to new adventures. The丢失的元素, however, are still holding onto those books. Whether they are a history of the series or a collection of Harry Potter quotes, students will be holding onto those elements in their minds as they prepare for the next season.

Where did the Show Begin?

The production team at Westminster College received positive reviews. Ben Brantley, who reviewed the show, noted that it was surprising to see such a large audience for the event. He also commented that the production team did a great job in creating a sense of dedication and submission which Westminster students pride themselves in.

In case you missed it, here’s a look back at the art showcased this past April on Broadway. When you decide to label yourself, you open yourself up to the interpretation of your label which may or may not match your own interpretation. The mismatch between what you could be inaccurate or appropriate for you. The point is, labels are not set in stone. Any label can be manipulated. When you decide to label yourself, you open yourself up to the interpretation of your label which may or may not match your own interpretation. The mismatch between what you could be inaccurate or appropriate for you. The point is, labels are not set in stone. Any label can be manipulated. When you decide to label yourself, you open yourself up to the interpretation of your label which may or may not match your own interpretation. The mismatch between what you could be inaccurate or appropriate for you. The point is, labels are not set in stone. Any label can be manipulated.

Sometimes, however, the moment someone looks at you and labels you as a “nerd” gets tacked onto people that are seen as “nerds.” You probably have had the same label that you probably identify with a status quo or a reality. The Cursed Child wasn’t their favorite, but there is no denying the eye-boggling illusions you’ll ever witness, without a visible eye. The story takes place nineteen years after the ending of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows would be the last Harry Potter book, but in 2016, Harry Potter fans were pleasantly surprised to hear that they would be getting a sequel to the beloved series. The play is set at the Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry, where Harry Potter and his friends are attending as adults. It is shown in two parts that run just under three hours each. Part One is set in 1997, right after the end of the last book, and Part Two is set in 2016, nineteen years later. Part One reveals the story of Harry Potter and the Malfoy family, while Part Two takes place in the present day and features Harry Potter and his friends as they attend the unveiling of the new Harry Potter covering.

The main points of these Harry Potter events are the following:

- The Hallows
- The Malfoy Family
- Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows
- The Cursed Child
- The Lyric Theatre

These events have provided a new outlet for fans to continue their journey through the wizarding world.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the Cursed Child was a thrilling and exciting addition to the Harry Potter universe. It was a testament to the power of storytelling and the magic of imagination. The play will continue to captivate audiences for years to come, and it is a reminder of the importance of imagination and creativity in our lives.

Copy Edited by Morgan Kohler
SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Emma Lawson
Major: Political Science and History
Hometown: Alexandria, VA
Post Grad Plans: I will be attending Howard University School of Law to pursue my J.D. and hope to enter the field of International Law.

I have been in the world of Westminster since I first sat down on the floor for the first time. Each year, I have grown, learned, and walked with everyone through love, loss, and everything in between. I am absolutely grateful for the opportunity to share this experience with everyone. I can’t wait to make more memories along the way!

Charlie Borges
Major: Marketing and Media Production
Hometown: Holtsville, NY
Post Grad Plans: I hope to be working off of my student hand

“Now what?” - The Pufferfish from Finding Nemo

Alina Clough
Major: Early Childhood Special Education
Hometown: Utica, NY
Post Grad Plans: Starting work later this month with an election commission, then finishing capstone in the fall and heading to grad school next year. Working with the Holcad has been a wonderful experience, my only regret is not getting involved sooner.

Working with the Holcad has been a wonderful experience, my only regret is not getting involved sooner. It’s been great to meet and work with so many great people and writers, and I’ve definitely gotten to expand a bit outside of my comfort zone.

Marcus Dean
Major: Communication Studies
Hometown: Pittsburgh, PA
Post Grad Plans: I plan on continuing my studies in graduate school. After graduation I plan to continue my studies in graduate school.

My time at WC has been very rewarding overall. My love for the Holcad has been a wonderful experience, and I wish I would’ve joined sooner. It’s been great to meet and work with so many great people and writers, and I’ve definitely gotten to expand a bit outside of my comfort zone.

Annie Trombetta
Major: Early Childhood Education
Hometown: West Mifflin, PA
Post Grad Plans: To continue to look for a job in the HR field and buy a horse

My time at Westminster has been amazing and unforgettable. Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Taylor Hertzel
Major: English and Music
Hometown: Bridgewater, NJ
Post Grad Plans: I am planning on starting a career in music and working as an editor on the Holcad.

Working as an editor on the Holcad has exposed me to a variety of writing styles. I’ve seen my best to take ideas from these styles and make them my own.

Baylee Felger
Major: Business Administration
Hometown: Petersburg, OH
Post Grad Plans: To continue to look for a job in the HR field and buy a horse

Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Morgan Kohler
Major: English
Hometown: Pittsburgh, PA
Post Grad Plans: I am planning on continuing my studies in graduate school. After graduation I plan to continue my studies in graduate school.

My time at Westminster has been amazing and unforgettable. Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Tessa Altman
Major: English
Hometown: New Milford, PA
Post Grad Plans: To continue to look for a job in the HR field and buy a horse

My time at Westminster has been amazing and unforgettable. Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Nikki Savini
Major: Business Administration
Minor: Spanish
Hometown: Cranberry Township, PA
Post Grad Plans: I am planning on continuing my studies in graduate school. After graduation I plan to continue my studies in graduate school.

The past four years at Westminster have been the most rewarding years of my life. It’s hard to believe that I’ll soon be leaving this place, but I’m looking forward to the next chapter in my life. I am so thankful for the people who have been a part of my journey, and I can’t wait to see where life takes me next.

Charlie Borges
Major: Marketing and Media Production
Hometown: Holtsville, NY
Post Grad Plans: I hope to be working off of my student hand

“Now what?” - The Pufferfish from Finding Nemo

Alina Clough
Major: Early Childhood Special Education
Hometown: Utica, NY
Post Grad Plans: Starting work later this month with an election commission, then finishing capstone in the fall and heading to grad school next year. Working with the Holcad has been a wonderful experience, my only regret is not getting involved sooner. It’s been great to meet and work with so many great people and writers, and I’ve definitely gotten to expand a bit outside of my comfort zone.

Marcus Dean
Major: Communication Studies
Hometown: Pittsburgh, PA
Post Grad Plans: I plan on continuing my studies in graduate school. After graduation I plan to continue my studies in graduate school.

My time at WC has been very rewarding overall. My love for the Holcad has been a wonderful experience, and I wish I would’ve joined sooner. It’s been great to meet and work with so many great people and writers, and I’ve definitely gotten to expand a bit outside of my comfort zone.

Annie Trombetta
Major: Early Childhood Education
Hometown: West Mifflin, PA
Post Grad Plans: To continue to look for a job in the HR field and buy a horse

My time at Westminster has been amazing and unforgettable. Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Taylor Hertzel
Major: English and Music
Hometown: Bridgewater, NJ
Post Grad Plans: I am planning on starting a career in music and working as an editor on the Holcad.

Working as an editor on the Holcad has exposed me to a variety of writing styles. I’ve seen my best to take ideas from these styles and make them my own.

Baylee Felger
Major: Business Administration
Hometown: Petersburg, OH
Post Grad Plans: To continue to look for a job in the HR field and buy a horse

Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Morgan Kohler
Major: English
Hometown: Pittsburgh, PA
Post Grad Plans: I am planning on continuing my studies in graduate school. After graduation I plan to continue my studies in graduate school.

My time at Westminster has been amazing and unforgettable. Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Tessa Altman
Major: English
Hometown: New Milford, PA
Post Grad Plans: To continue to look for a job in the HR field and buy a horse

My time at Westminster has been amazing and unforgettable. Westminster has given me the opportunity to grow as a person and a student. I am excited to work in the field of HR and continue to learn and grow in my career.

Nikki Savini
Major: Business Administration
Minor: Spanish
Hometown: Cranberry Township, PA
Post Grad Plans: I am planning on continuing my studies in graduate school. After graduation I plan to continue my studies in graduate school.

The past four years at Westminster have been the most rewarding years of my life. It’s hard to believe that I’ll soon be leaving this place, but I’m looking forward to the next chapter in my life. I am so thankful for the people who have been a part of my journey, and I can’t wait to see where life takes me next.
Westminster Host Anti-Gerrymandering Speaker

Matthew Casier

America is a land in which the people govern, depending on which political party you are registered to vote under, except in a courtroom last Monday.

Dr. Don Goldstein, a member of Fair Districts PA and DeGold, sat down in front of the court to discuss the ongoing question for state lawmakers in Pennsylvania how we make legislative districts that accurately represent the people.

According to the group’s website, the problems are three-fold for Pennsylvania. "Gerrymandering means politicians have too much control. It allows us to manipulate outside interests, rather than the people. Gerrymandering uses techniques like "packing" and "cracking" to manipulate from the districts of particular, or those from the opposition party or minority or low-income voters to reduce their influence. Competitive elections keep politicians accountable. But in the 2016 general election, incumbents ran unopposed in almost half of PA House and Senate races. Many voters feel undemocratically represented, depending on which district they are in."

As for the redistricting plan put forward by the Governor’s office and put into the court’s decision in a racial gerrymandering case in Pennsylvania, the court also temporarily blocked a lower court’s decision in a gerrymandering case in Wisconsin. Both cases deal with the challenge of Democratic-drawn congressional map, and the constitutionality of their maps to violate the separation of powers clause of the United States Constitution. In the case of Wisconsin, the court ruled that the Republican-drawn map, which was drawn in accordance with the state’s party line, is unconstitutional.

The court’s decision in Wisconsin is significant because it sets a precedent for the future of gerrymandering challenges. The court ruled that the map violates the separation of powers clause of the United States Constitution. The court also ruled that the map violates the constitutional right of free speech, which is protected by the First Amendment. This is the first time in U.S. history that a court has ruled that a congressional map is unconstitutional.

The court’s decision in Wisconsin is significant because it sets a precedent for the future of gerrymandering challenges. The court ruled that the map violates the separation of powers clause of the United States Constitution. The court also ruled that the map violates the constitutional right of free speech, which is protected by the First Amendment. This is the first time in U.S. history that a court has ruled that a congressional map is unconstitutional.

Rev. Mohr makes the trip to Alaska

Nate Seville

"Cutting up in a little over two weeks is Westminster College’s annual mission trip. Twelve students, Rev. Andrew Arstine, Campus Ministry Fellow, Stephanie Lohman, and Assistance Professor of Chemistry, Jessica Sarver, will be traveling to Alaska from May 15 until June 2, 2018. A five-week exploration program is created to discover which students will go on the trip. This year, forty-five students applied. They were then chosen from a questionnaire, as well as from auditions. In this interview, Reverend Mohr discusses activities that are part of the trip and the challenges that will be faced, such as being food from another culture and being exposed to different cultures. One of the goals of the trip is to establish a culture of being open to new ideas and new ways. Reverend Mohr and his team strive to gather a diverse group by partially basing their decision on gender, race, and for what part of the world a student originates.

The group, consisting of mostly upperclassmen, will fly out of Pittsburgh to Minneapolis-Saint Paul, then to Seattle, and finally landing in Anchorage, Alaska. The Westminster group has partnered with the Presbyterian of the Yukon, which is a group of about sixty people on eleven districts in north central Alaska. This allows Westminster students to connect with people and plan events. Such events and other aspects of the trip will help students to gain cross-cultural perspectives, which is an important aspect of global citizenship. Cross-cultural perspectives help students to understand the different cultural segments, native Alaskan cultures, global issues, voices, and spiritual development.

Students will be free for four to five hours of the day volunteering their time, meeting new people (including Westminster alumni), and exploring Anchorage. That being said, the students will be volunteering for a full day of the trip. The University of Alaska Southeast will provide food to the students. Students will also work with several emergency alerts in Japan. One of the main foreign language students will also be speaking on Green Day. This trip is possible due to the support of Westminster students. This trip is possible due to the support of Westminster students.

The summit’s guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.” The summit's guestbook: “New history starts from now, at the historic starting point of the era of peace.”
More than 1,500 mourners gathered on April 21 in Texas to attend the funeral of first lady Barbara Bush and celebrate her 92 years of life. The funeral service was held in Houston at St. Martin’s Episcopal Church, the Bushes’ family church, according to ABC News. For the former first lady’s last wishes, the service was modest, and attended included family and friends, and former president and first lady.

Barbara Bush, mistress of the Bush political dynasty, was remembered as a loving wife, mother, and friend at the ceremony, according to ABC News. Further, she was remembered for her sense of humor, promotion of literacy and trademark faux pearls.

Sonnal front and center in his wheelchair dur- ing the service was Barbara’s husband of 73 years, for- mer president George H.W. Bush. The former president spotted with books unrelated to him to commemo- rate his wife’s dedication to literacy, the Washington Post re- ported.

John Bird, the former governor of Florida, grew emotional during his speech, as he referred to his mother as “the best role model in the world” and the per- son who taught him “to strive to be genuine and authen- tic,” according to CNN.

Presidential historian Jon Meacham, a friend of the Bush family, was among others who gave eulogies at the service.

“Barbara Bush was the first lady of the greater generation,” Meacham said.

He also added that “for the former first lady was “candid and comforting” and a “point of light” who “kept everything and everyone together,” according to ABC News.

Among other attendees were former presidents George Bush, Barack Obama and Bill Clinton, according to CNN. First lady Melania Trump and former first lady Laura Bush, Michelle Obama, and Hillary Clinton were also in attendance. The Clinton’s daughter, Chelsea Clinton, was at the funeral as well, CNN reported.

Barbara Bush’s casket arrived April 20 at St. Mar- y’s, where the former first lady lay in repose as the public was welcomed to pay respects from noon to midnight, according to ABC News.

The Rev. Russell Larramé Jr. and the Rev. Dr. Peter Cheney were co-officiants of the service. Eight of Barbara Bush’s grandchildren served as pallbearers, according to ABC News.

After the service, a procession brought Barbara Bush’s casket to the George Bush Presidential Library and Museum in College Station for a private ser- vice. There, she was buried in a family plot alongside her daughter, Robin, who died of leukemia at the age of 3 in 1972, according to CNN. Bush was buried in her hometown in Houston on April 17 after deciding against seeking additional medical treatment earlier that week after a series of hospitaliza- tions according to CNN. She had been in failing health for some time prior to her death, battling both chronic obstructive pulmonary disease and congestive heart fail- ure.

The former first lady was only the second woman in U.S. history to have had both a husband and son elect- ed president. The first woman died 10 days earlier and less than a year after their son George W., the 43rd president, took office.

The Bushes’ daughter Susan, who once described her mother as “the most beautiful friend,” according to ABC News.
Pollution Solutions in the U.K.

As a part of the environmental initiatives of the United Kingdom, new legislation is being developed to implement a ban on single-use plastic bags, such as plastic straws and Q-tips, as society moves away from the use of plastic bags, there are high hopes for the progression of this Environmental Plan.

Prime Minister Theresa May announced this initiative at the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting, saying: “Plastic waste is one of the greatest environmental challenges facing the world, which is why protecting the marine environment is central to our agenda.” It is estimated that the amount of plastic waste that ends up in our oceans will triple by 2025! “This is a serious statute” is one of the primary motivating factors behind such environmental projects. Q-tips and straws are often referred to by the British as one of the most commonly occurring sources of waste on their beaches. Drawing on this fact, the Johnson & Johnson company has terminated the sale of Q-tips or cotton buds as referred to in the UK. Locations. Greater than 40 major businesses join in the effort to cancel the use of these kinds of plastics as a result of packaging and other uses. Future plans hope to not only discontinue the use of single-use plastics but make sure that the plastic that is used is encouraged to be reusable, recyclable and compostable. Additionally, goals of ensuring that at least 30 percent of packaging is sourced from recyclable materials, according to the independent. The rest of the public has signed on as well with facilitators of the Association of Independent Festivals pledging to ban the use of single-use plastics by 2021. This organization of over 60 member music festivals hopes to do their part in the effort to diminish waste to our oceans, according to NPR. The rest of the world has followed suit in an effort to tackle the global issue of plastic pollution. Chile has also been involved in the equation in the United States. By 2021, all states in the country will have banned all single-use plastics to be used in the general public later this year. As sourced by NPR news, small initiatives in the U.K. have begun as well. Beginning June 2018, the use of plastic straws, stirrers and straws will be banned from all restaurants in Malibu, California. In addition to this, many cities, counties and developed areas around the country have adopted legislation that bans plastic bags in grocery stores.

As a part of the environmental initiatives of the United Kingdom, new legislation is being developed to implement a ban on single-use plastic bags, such as plastic straws and Q-tips, as society moves away from the use of plastic bags, there are high hopes for the progression of this Environmental Plan.

Prime Minister Theresa May announced this initiative at the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting, saying: “Plastic waste is one of the greatest environmental challenges facing the world, which is why protecting the marine environment is central to our agenda.” It is estimated that the amount of plastic waste that ends up in our oceans will triple by 2025! “This is a serious statute” is one of the primary motivating factors behind such environmental projects. Q-tips and straws are often referred to by the British as one of the most commonly occurring sources of waste on their beaches. Drawing on this fact, the Johnson & Johnson company has terminated the sale of Q-tips or cotton buds as referred to in the UK. Locations. Greater than 40 major businesses join in the effort to cancel the use of these kinds of plastics as a result of packaging and other uses. Future plans hope to not only discontinue the use of single-use plastics but make sure that the plastic that is used is encouraged to be reusable, recyclable and compostable. Additionally, goals of ensuring that at least 30 percent of packaging is sourced from recyclable materials, according to the independent. The rest of the public has signed on as well with facilitators of the Association of Independent Festivals pledging to ban the use of single-use plastics by 2021. This organization of over 60 member music festivals hopes to do their part in the effort to diminish waste to our oceans, according to NPR. The rest of the world has followed suit in an effort to tackle the global issue of plastic pollution. Chile has also been involved in the equation in the United States. By 2021, all states in the country will have banned all single-use plastics to be used in the general public later this year. As sourced by NPR news, small initiatives in the U.K. have begun as well. Beginning June 2018, the use of plastic straws, stirrers and straws will be banned from all restaurants in Malibu, California. In addition to this, many cities, counties and developed areas around the country have adopted legislation that bans plastic bags in grocery stores.
Mixed martial arts star Conor McGregor was charged with assault and battery of domestic violence. McGregor, who was involved in a domestic violence incident in August 2017. According to the Washington Post, after the assault, McGregor was arrested and released on a $50,000 bail. Despite this, he faces an 11-year prison sentence if convicted.

Before the assault, McGregor had an ex-fiancé who was a former UFC fighter. He started as an MMA fighter in 2008 and then was both the Cage Warriors Featherweight and Championship. He carried both titles with him to the UFC in 2012. McGregor hasn’t faced much of a challenge in his boxing match with Floyd Mayweather in August 2017. According to the Washington Post, after the incident, McGregor commented, “I feel that when you have reached such a high status, you have to carry yourself like a gentleman.” This is a bit ironic coming from a man who has been accused multiple times of battery and domestic violence.

The first round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs is officially over. Standout teams this year were the Ottawa Senators, who were one of the few teams to make it to the playoffs, and the Tampa Bay Lightning, who won the previous two playoff series. For the next match-up we have the Nashville Predators, who were able to finish the season with 114 points. The Penguins, with 117 points, will have home-ice advantage and there’s still a lot of hockey left to play. The Predators are looking for revenge as they play this series without home-ice advantage. For the Penguins, it was slightly harder. They were looking for revenge as they play this series without home-ice advantage. For the Penguins, it was slightly harder.

Because the NHL Playoffs are the most exciting time of year. When we think of the playoffs, we think of the league’s best teams. The Ottawa Senators, who were able to finish the season with 114 points, are one of the few teams to make it to the playoffs. The Penguins, with 117 points, will have home-ice advantage and there’s still a lot of hockey left to play. The Predators are looking for revenge as they play this series without home-ice advantage. For the Penguins, it was slightly harder. They were looking for revenge as they play this series without home-ice advantage.

Because the NHL Playoffs are the most exciting time of year. When we think of the playoffs, we think of the league’s best teams. The Ottawa Senators, who were able to finish the season with 114 points, are one of the few teams to make it to the playoffs. The Penguins, with 117 points, will have home-ice advantage and there’s still a lot of hockey left to play. The Predators are looking for revenge as they play this series without home-ice advantage. For the Penguins, it was slightly harder. They were looking for revenge as they play this series without home-ice advantage.
Class of 2018
Celebrate Graduation &
Mother’s Day!
Sat. May 12TH & Sun. May 13TH

BRUNCH SEATING
11:00-1:00 or 1:00-3:00

BRUNCH $18.00

BUY BRUNCH TICKETS AT
cedarfarminn.com or call 724-944-8408

WINE TRAIL & BRUNCH
$43.00 (2 for $82)

BUY WINE TRAIL PACKAGE AT
Novacellars.com

The Cedar Farm Inn has again been chosen as an optional stop between Fractured Grape-New Wilmington and Nova Cellars-Pulaski.

Cedar Farm Inn
Country Bed & Breakfast/Private Events

TITAN ATHLETICS

FINAL SCORES

Women’s
Softball: Won against Saint Vincent 6-3, 6-0
Lacrosse: Won against Thomas Moore 18-4

Men’s
Baseball: Lost against John Carroll 9-24, Won against Chatham 5-1, Lost against Chatham 2-4, Won against
Bethany 8-1, Lost against Bethany 5-13
Lacrosse: Won against Bethany 19-9

Tennis: PAC 5th/9
Golf: PAC 5th/8

WATCH THIS WEEK

Women’s
FINALS WEEK

Men’s
FINALS WEEK
WEEKLY VIBES

COURTESY OF MERLE WOODRING

FIND YOUR WEEKLY HOROSCOPE BELOW

DON'T BE SURPRISED WHEN IT'S TRUE, WE'RE THAT GOOD!

Virgo
Life is full of ups, and downs. We have to live through both. The best thing to do is to take both the best way you can. There should be no reason to let uncontrollable events shape your future or happiness.

Scorpio
Hi! You're doing great. You may not feel like it, but you are. Once you set your mind to something there is nothing that can stand in your way. Use your great spirit to help others and those nearest you. It will make all the difference.

Sagittarius
Don't feel like nothing is going to change. Every day is different. It may feel the same, but all you have to do is mix it up. You only have a finite amount of time here. Make the most of it. Don't be too crazy though. It's fine in moderation like most things.

Libra
This is the home stretch, and you area probably feeling it for sure. Just know that there is a light at the end of the tunnel and you should keep on keeping on.

Leo
Being a strong leader is not something everyone can just do. It takes time to grow and develop those skills. You are making great progress. Don't let yourself get intimidated.

Cancer
You made it! Hooray! It is a scary and exciting feeling all at the same time. Another semester down, and more adventures await. There is nothing you can't do, you just have to believe.

Gemini
You have been going at full speed, and it is time to finally sit back and relax. Let yourself rest for once, and you won't regret it.

Taurus
It's starting to look more and more like spring, and pretty soon it will be summer—which is probably more exciting to you. Go out and enjoy the weather. Study under the sun and let the good vibes flow!

Aries
You're tough one. There isn't too much that can break your skin, but everyone has a breaking point. If you feel close to yours, take some time off, be with friends and loved ones. Most importantly remember what really matters in life.

Pisces
Daydreaming more often? Getting that spring fever? Take on this beautiful weather in strides. Invite some friends, spread the good vibes and the good vibes will brighten up your day.

Aquarius
Feeling blue lately? Remember that you are the only one in control of your life. Noone can bring you down except you! Look in the mirror and be proud of what you see. You rock!

Capricorn
It feels like the ride is never going to end probably. Well its getting close. Be sure to remain focused and don't give up until the ride comes to a complete stop, and also, Smile!

WEEKNL Y VIBES

SUDOKU PUZZLE

Answers are located on page B4