Westminster College
School of Music presents

Music Major
For a Day!

October 30 & 31, 2017
Open to current high school sophomores, juniors and seniors considering a major in music, Westminster College School of Music would like to provide you the opportunity to find out what a day at the collegiate level is like.

DATES:

Monday, Oct. 30, 2017 for those considering concentrating in Woodwinds, Brass and Percussion (Symphonic Band, Wind Ensemble, numerous class options).

Tuesday, Oct. 31, 2017 for those considering Vocal Music, Keyboard, or Strings (Concert Choir, Men’s Chorus, Women’s Chorus, Orchestra and numerous class options).

If only one of the days works, but is not in your primary area, that is still fine. We can still offer you an outstanding experience!

Become a Music Major for a Day! All participants will be paired with a current Westminster student to shadow for the day. You will have the opportunity to sit in on classes, meet and talk with current students and faculty, and participate in ensembles. Lunch will be provided for all.

For more information, contact Dr. Daniel Perttu, chair of the School of Music at 724-946-7024 or perttude@westminster.edu.

To make a reservation please contact Kristen Kuzma, 724-946-7270 or kuzmakm@westminster.edu. Deadline for reservations are Oct. 20, 2017.

This day is more than about observing only. It is about the opportunity to interact, ask questions, and meet faculty and students.

About Westminster: Westminster is an accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Music, so the curriculum and its requirements meet the national highest standards.

About Our Music Faculty: You will find the Westminster music faculty presenting at local, state and national conferences. You will see and hear the studio faculty at the primary venues from Pittsburgh to Cleveland and all points in between.
