LARRY ONDAKO CAMP DIRECTOR

Camp director Larry Ondako is the head men's basketball coach at Westminster College. The 2010-11 season marked Ondako's eighth season as head coach of the Titans.

The 2006-07 Titans posted an 18-9 record and qualified for the NCAA Division III Tournament for the first time in school history, which was the school's first national tournament appearance since 1996 when Westminster was an NAIA school. Westminster also posted a league-best regular season record of 10-2 in PAC.

In his first season as head coach in 2003-04, Ondako took a team with a 2-8 record to start the season and made won the school's first-ever PAC Championships with a 15-13 overall record and berth in the ECAC Division III South Region Championships.

Ondako has been known to improvise and manipulate the tempo of games with a sharp-shooting offense and a full-court trapping defense. This was evident during the stretch run of the team's PAC championships season and the 2004-05 and 2005-06 seasons when the Titans averaged over 102 points and over 17 made 3-pointers per game. In 2007-08, Westminster ranked sixth in the nation in 3-point shooting making 10.5 per game.

A 1993 Westminster graduate, Ondako was a 1,000-point scorer for the Titans during his collegiate playing days. He was a two-time NAIA District 18 first-team selection in basketball and was named Team MVP in 1992-93.

In addition to his bachelor's degree in business administration from Westminster, Ondako also earned a master's degree in elementary education from Duquesne University in 1995.

His wife, Bess, is also a Westminster graduate. The couple resides in New Castle with their daughter, Zoey, and twin boys Sam and Casey.
