

NURSING. Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pennsylvania. Westminster College invites applicants for a full-time, faculty position in the Department of Nursing to begin teaching in the fall semester of AY 2019-2020 at the rank of assistant professor or instructor. The candidate must have an earned Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree and have at least five years of teaching experience within an accredited nursing program. Appointment to a tenure-track position is available to candidates who will have earned a doctorate degree in a Nursing or a related field by position start date. The primary responsibility for the position will be teaching 400-level Nursing courses within the College's RN to BSN/Post-licensure Program. The position includes the opportunity to teach other courses for undergraduate students such as general education courses that are part of the First Year Program. The successful candidate will also be expected to advise students, engage in research or scholarship, and provide service to the College community. The ideal candidate should have experience with the CCNE accreditation process.

Westminster College is a highly-regarded liberal arts college, known for its collaborative environment and outstanding experiential learning programs. Related to the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), Westminster was founded in 1852 as the first college in the country to offer the same degrees to all people, regardless of gender, race, or religion. Westminster has been ranked among the nation's top schools for "Top Colleges Doing the Most for the American Dream" (NY Times), "best value for the money" (College Factual), employment success (Educate to Career Index), graduation rate performance (U.S. News), social mobility (Washington Monthly), women in STEM disciplines (Forbes), service-learning (President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll), and other categories. Around 1,200 undergraduate and graduate students benefit from close personal attention from dedicated faculty while choosing from 41 majors, 10 pre-professional programs and nearly 100 organizations. Westminster's historic campus is located in New Wilmington, PA, a beautiful rural setting near Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, plan for research, and contact information for three references to Tricia Ryan, PhD(c), MSN, RN, CNE @ ryantl@westminster.edu. Applications will be reviewed beginning February 15, 2019 and accepted until the position is filled.
