PHYSICS. Westminster College, New Wilmington, PA. The Westminster College Department of Physics invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Physics to begin August 2021. Excellent candidates from all areas of physics will be considered but those with a background and interest in applied physics, computational physics, or astrophysics will be preferred. Applicants are expected to have a Ph.D. in physics or a related field by Fall 2021.

Responsibilities for the position include teaching three courses per semester, maintaining an active scholarly program, advising and mentoring undergraduate students, and participating in service to the College. Successful candidates should have a demonstrated excellence in teaching and an interest in engaging undergraduates in research.

Westminster College is a nationally recognized liberal arts college, known for its collaborative environment, outstanding experiential learning programs, and focus on student success. Related to the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), Westminster was founded in 1852 as the first college in the country to offer the same degrees to all people, regardless of gender, race, or religion. Westminster has been ranked among the nation’s top schools for “Top Colleges Doing the Most for the American Dream” (N.Y. Times), “best value for the money” (College Factual), employment success (Educate to Career Index), graduation rate performance (U.S. News), social mobility (Washington Monthly), women in STEM disciplines (Forbes), service-learning (President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll), and other categories. Around 1,200 undergraduate and graduate students benefit from close personal attention from dedicated faculty while choosing from 41 majors, 10 pre-professional programs and 80 organizations. Westminster’s historic campus is located in New Wilmington, PA, a beautiful rural setting near Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

Application Deadline: Complete applications received by March 1, 2021 will receive full consideration. Applicants should submit via e-mail a curriculum vitae, a statement about teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment, and a statement about scholarship plans (including undergraduate research). Applicants should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be sent, at least one of which must address teaching. All application materials should be e-mailed to Dr. John Bonomo, Chair, Department of Physics, Westminster College, physicshire@westminster.edu.
