POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

The Westminster College Department of Mathematics and Computer Science invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Mathematics, to begin August 2027. We seek a dynamic and innovative teacher-scholar who is committed to excellence in undergraduate education and student-centered learning.

Responsibilities:

- Teach three courses per semester (in person) in a broad range of courses in the mathematics program, support courses in business and STEM fields, the College's core curriculum, and the first-year program.
- Maintain an active program of scholarship that engages undergraduate students.
- Advise and mentor undergraduate students pursuing mathematics majors, minors, and interdisciplinary programs.
- Participate in service to the department, college, and broader academic community.

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, Statistics, or Operations Research by August 2027. All mathematical fields will be considered, but an interest in teaching applied or interdisciplinary undergraduate courses is preferred.
- Demonstrated commitment to excellence and inclusivity in undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting.
- Evidence of scholarly productivity and potential for research with undergraduate students.
- Given the current political and fiscal climate, Westminster College does not sponsor or take over sponsorship of employment Visas at this time. To be hired, applicants must be authorized to work for ANY employer in the U.S.

Westminster College is a nationally-recognized liberal arts college, known for its collaborative environment, outstanding experiential learning programs, and focus on student success. Related to the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), Westminster was founded in 1852 as one of the first colleges in the country to offer the same degrees to all people, regardless of gender, race, or religion. Westminster has been ranked among the nation's top schools for "Top Colleges Doing the Most for the American Dream" (NY Times), "best value for the money" (College Factual), employment success (Educate to Career Index), graduation rate performance (U.S. News), social mobility (Washington Monthly), women in STEM disciplines (Forbes), service-learning (President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll), and other categories. Around 1,200 undergraduate and graduate students benefit from close personal attention from dedicated faculty while choosing from 41 majors, 10 pre-professional programs and 80 organizations. Westminster's historic campus is located in New Wilmington, PA, a beautiful rural setting near Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, plan for research involving undergraduates, and graduate transcripts. Applicants should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be sent, at least one of which must address teaching. All application materials should be submitted via Mathjobs.org. Complete applications received by November 30, 2026 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted after this date until the position is filled.

Westminster College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
